ence meeting, with no response, brought the pleasant: "Gentlemen, your silence is not helpful." He continued:

"Then let me say what is in my mind frankly and openly, and do not forget that my words are carefully chosen, and that I speak as the chief representative of the French government. We have been here a month. Some newspapers—and I am not referring especially to American or English—seemed to doubt the sincerity of France and seemed also to doubt the sentiments with which we came to Genoa. But we have collaborated in every possible way.

"At the outset, had semi-official conversations with the Russians at Mr. Lloyd George's villa, and my attitude was approved by the French government. Then came the sensational disclosure of the Russo-German separate treaty. You know how everybody felt about that.

Stayed Despite Rapallo Treaty.

"If France, as alleged by some, possessed secret or sinister intentions, that was her opportunity to wreck the conference. While we were sitting unofficially with the Russian delegates and meeting them officially around the tables of the commission on Russian affairs we were struck in the back. Had we left the conference then and there, had we wrecked it, I believe there are few people in the United States or England who would have blamed us. Yet, despite this blow from behind, we continued loyally with the work. Nothing could have better shown our good intentions."

The French foreign minister then traced the events of the last week and explained how the question of the pre-war debts was satisfactorily settled by the memorandum of the powers to Russia and how the problem of the war debts also was arranged.

Ordered to Back Belgium.

"Belgium never liked our treatment of this problem in the memorandum," continued M. Barthou. "I had it amended so that it conformed more with the Belgian resolutions. Then I went to Paris and found great excitement there among the public, and our parliamentary commissions were united in holding that Belgium's objection was justified, because even the amended text was not categorical enough on the question of foreign property. I was instructed to support Belgium's cause, but that does not mean that we have chosen from among our friends. We have taken sides merely on the question of principle. There is no suggestion of preference as concerns England or Belgium."

That M. Barthou seemed to believe that the present impasse, possessing great political importance was evident from the fervor with which he entered upon a eulogy of both England and Belgium for what they had accomplished in the great war.

The minister then turned to the future, saying:

"If you asked what is coming, I must say I do not know. It is possible, even probable, that Russia by refusing to agree to the memorandum will unite us again. It is necessary for the Russians to reply clearly, yes or no. The terms presented to them are precise and clear. If their reply is not categorical, if it is dilatory, if it means playing for time, then I can merely say that Genoa is a charming city, but we all have other obligations and other duties which call us elsewhere."

Anti-War Pact at Stake.

One question was put to M. Barthou:—If the Russian reply is evasive, what will France's attitude be on the nonaggression pact?

He answered:

"If it is evasive, all is over. The nonaggression pact can only be taken up in the event of a preliminary accord with Russia. Germany signed the treaty of Versailles, and article 10 of the covenant of the league of nations provides that countries shall not attack one another. Russia has not signed the treaty of Versailles, and a nonaggression pact is impossible unless some arrangement with Russia is brought about by the Genoa conference."

FLEEING ARMY OF CHANG RUNS INTO WU'S TRAP

Retreat Cut Off, Whole Brigade Gives Up.

By CHARLES DAILEY.
(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
TIENTSIN, May 7.—Gen. Chang Two Lin's broken army is being surrounded tonight by Gen. Wu Pei Fu. Gen. Chang has deserted his train and fled into the country with a bodyguard.

Gen. Wu has established headquarters in Tientsin. The railway beyond Shangkaiwan is blocked by fire of his gunboats. Between Tientsin and Luanchow forty trains containing the bulk of Gen. Chang's army are trapped, and a great circling movement is progressing. This will compel the bulk of Gen. Chang's army to surrender.

A whole brigade and an additional regiment surrendered fifteen miles east of Tientsin this afternoon, and the trains further east are rapidly being deserted. Admiral Sah notified Gen. Wu at 4 p. m. that he had cut the railway at Yanhookow.

Powers Tell Wu to Leave.

Gen. Wu arrived at Tientsin at 1:30 Sunday and has remained since then aboard a train at the Tientsin station. A French colonel called on Gen. Wu this afternoon as a representative of the international powers and demanded that he move to some other place, as he was violating the protocol delivered by the powers to China after the Boxer uprising.

Gen. Wu replied that he has appointed himself the governor of Chihli province and had ordered the governor's bodyguard sent to protect him. Within an hour 500 of these troops surrounded the train, which contains 400 Chihli troops. Wu's 15th brigade was also at the station, encamped parallel with the tracks.

Gen. Wu told the colonel that his presence was necessary in Tientsin to preserve order. The international commanders thereupon communicated with the diplomats at Peking by radio.

Cavalry Circles Poles.

Telephone and telegraph wires were cut this morning. A train started for Peking, but got only eighteen miles. It was blocked by Gen. Wu's troops pursuing Gen. Chang.

Gen. Wu's plan to disarm all Chang troops passing Luanchow has failed, owing to the rapid flight of the troops. He had a force of 1,500 there under Col. Yin, who was still disarming the first train when another approached.

CHANG IN TRAP

By some tactics best known to Gen. Wu of the victorious central Chinese army the railway bridge over the Luan river north of Tientsin was destroyed in front of the retreating Manchurian army, and hundreds of trains loaded with troops are stalled there. Gen. Chang is reported to have deserted his army, which is being surrounded by Chinese troops, and to have fled across the country toward his headquarters in Mukden.

and made an attack. Col. Yin's force, being outnumbered, was compelled to flee, but they blocked the railway. Col. Yin is now collaborating with Gen. Wu's cavalry in encircling Gen. Chang's stalled army.

Chinese reports received here at midnight said Chang's own officers were disarming the troops at Luanchow, owing to many of them getting out of hand. The report adds that the Luan river bridge is broken, thus halting retreat into Manchuria. The troops being without food are threatening mutiny, so a general disarming was ordered.

All Tientsin was awake throughout the night, owing to firing on two sides of the city. Troops and volunteers were at their posts and behind barricades erected at the foreign concessions.

Town Is Looted.

The worst situation is at Pehsang, about four miles northwest of here, where artillery firing is reported by the consulate. The first Chang brigade, previously reported as waiting for a train, have looted the town, and refugees are fleeing to Tientsin.

About midnight rifle fire was heard south of the Japanese barracks, and also disturbances south of the German concessions, where Americans hold. Armed stragglers are nearing the city from three directions.

The pressure at Peking was relieved by disarming the troops, the diplomatic body releasing a $200,000 customs surplus to pay them. The Peking-Kalgan line has been cut to prevent further flight and one regiment was disarmed at Suahwafu.

FRANCE SOON TO RETAKE CILICIA, LONDON REPORT

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
LONDON, May 7.—There are persistent rumors in diplomatic circles here that France will recapture Cilicia very shortly, according to the Daily Telegraph. It is pointed out that at the Paris conference on near east affairs Premier Poincare remarked that, although France had evacuated Cilicia, it might some day decide to recapture it, since it came within the sphere of France's influence.

Premier Poincare and the French military chiefs, it is known, view with disfavor the open manifestation of favor toward the Russian-German treaty evoked by the Turkish Nationalists at Angora and Genoa.

Uncovering the flank of Syria by the Cilician evacuation has also led to increased Kemalist agitation in Syria, and this may be made the basis for French recapture of Cilicia.

MEXICAN CHIEF COMING TO DEAL WITH U. S. BANKS

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
MEXICO CITY, May 7.—It has finally been arranged that Minister of Finance De La Huerta will leave for New York about May 20, in order to have time for a conference of more or less private nature with bankers and capitalists, before the session with bankers and Mexican creditors begins. He is empowered to negotiate with the capitalists for the establishment of a national bank of single issue. It has been stated semi-officially that he will not open the question of the recognition of Mexico, but he may go to Washington to pay a visit of courtesy to President Harding. There is a great interest among Mexican financial and commercial circles in the visit, which is believed will be the beginning of a better understanding between the two governments.

ONE DROWN, FOUR SAVED WHEN BOAT TURNS TURTLE

One man was drowned and four others experienced a narrow escape from death yesterday in the Kankakee river near Momence, Ill., when a camping party from Steger, Ill., attempted to move their outfit across the river with a tow line.

John Clark, 28 years old, is dead. He was wearing hip boots and sank before he could be helped.

Two men were pulling the raft across the river. Three followed in a boat, which was accidentally rowed against the raft, throwing all five into the water.

Charles Jungerson saved his life by grasping a box, part of the camp paraphernalia. He floated down the river and was picked up later. John Krause, Nicholas Iarchem and Victor Druifmueller all managed to scramble to safety on the raft.

Tuke fled from the scene of the accident. H. F. Holman, 624 Briar place, who was in the car together with his wife and children, was taken into custody, but was released when it was learned it was his brother-in-law, Tuke, who was driving the machine.

The chief points brought out by Mr. Dawes are the first, that the expense government for the current ending June 30, 1922, which executive pressure, plan, and been imposed upon the budget, were given in the budget estimate as $3,967,3 be at least $45,550,336 less estimate, or approximately $3,922,372,030, a reduction $45,000,000 from the actual figures for the preceding fiscal year.

$225,000,000 IN 1922 IS SAVED TO NATION BY DAWES

Economies Revealed in His Budget to Harding.

By ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., May 7.—(Special.)—Economies totaling $225,000,000 have been accomplished by the new budget system in government expenditures for the current fiscal year, it is disclosed in a report by Budget Director Dawes which President Harding will transmit to Chairman Madden of the house appropriations committee.

"On the whole," says the President's letter, "I believe the congress will find the operation of the newly adopted methods to be highly gratifying, not only in having brought about reductions in expenditure in accord with the manifest wishes of congress in reduced appropriations, but in revealing the possibilities of large savings through still more efficient methods in the future."

Racing Back to Normalcy.

"This will be conveyed to the people the determination of those in authority to operate the government effectively at the least possible cost, to make the government's full contribution to a return to the normal ways of peace and ultimately lifting the excessive burden of taxation."

The chief points brought out in the report of Mr. Dawes are the following:

First, that the expenditures of government for the current fiscal year ending June 30, 1922, which, after executive pressure, plan, and policy had been imposed upon the business organization, were given in the December budget estimate as $2,967,922,366, will be at least $45,550,336 less than this estimate; or approximately the sum of $1,922,372,030, a reduction of over $1,900,000,000 from the actual expenditures for the preceding fiscal year 1921.

Notable Series of Economies.

Second, that after eliminating from the estimates the confusing figures incident to operations in capital funds, the public debt and other similar accounts, which have no real bearing upon the question of expenditure in operation of the routine business of government subject, in general, to executive control, there has been a reduction in these latter expenditures, as compared with 1921, of $907,500,000, of which the director of the budget details $225,000,000 as that which can be fairly attributed to the imposition of executive plan and pressure on the routine business organization of government under the new system.

Third, that the savings reserve against current appropriations of $112,000,000 set up by the departments and establishments in August, 1921, in response to executive request, has been increased, notwithstanding appropriations by congress of over $7,000,000 of this reserve for other purposes, to the approximate sum of $136,000,000, at which it now stands. Only one part of these reductions are as real savings and not postponed expenditures have been included in the general estimate of savings given.

Discrepancy Is Minimal.

Fourth, that the present estimated expenditures for 1922, for the operation of the routine business of government generally subject to executive control, after eliminating certain expenditures amounting to $7,500,000, authorized by congress after the submission of the budget for representation of the United States at the Brazil exposition, seed loans, and fulfillment of the treaty with Colombia, as compared with the December budget estimates show an excess of only $25,767,457 on a total of $1,758,375,672, or a discrepancy of only about 1 1/2 per cent.

Mr. Dawes criticizes the system of governmental accounting under which payments from capital funds, such as loans to the railroads and loans by the war finance corporation, are listed as expenditures. Mr. Dawes states that Controller General McCall is now working on a revision of the governmental accounting system.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

RIO DE JANEIRO, May 7.—The Portuguese aviators, Capt. Sacadura and Coutinho, received another plane at St. Paul rock today and probably will resume their trans-Atlantic flight tomorrow. They will fly to Fernando Noronha, and thence to the mainland of Brazil. After almost completing their trip over the ocean the airmen wrecked their plane in landing in the narrow bay at St. Paul rock. A new plane was sent to them from Lisbon.

Sees Other Motive.

Capt. Patacz said he does not believe Edward has told the whole truth. The captain sees another motive in the planned marriage of the dead brother and Miss Anna Burginski of Michigan City. William, it was learned, had considerable money, including a half interest in a $2,000 bank account and a mortgage on the Homan avenue home, which is owned by the brother Charles. The marriage would have destroyed Edward's chances of inheriting this.

Edward is married and has a son 16 years old. He admitted he said nothing to either his wife or son of the fight with his brother when he reached home.

KILLED BROTHER FOR REFUSAL OF A LOAN, HE SAYS

Arrested When Drawn Back to View Body.

Edward Rocharek, 41 years old, a farmer, of Bloomington, Mich., confessed yesterday that he had beaten to death his brother William because the latter had refused him a loan of $700.

The body of William Rocharek, 49, was found early Saturday face down in a ditch near the Chicago, Lake Shore and South Bend railway, by Kensington police, who traced the course taken by Patacz's assailants, served to tell the story of the crime in part.

Patacz, 28 years old, was out of employment. He decided to go into the country and find work on a farm.

"I've got $40," he told neighbors who knew him when he lived at 155 East 107th street, "but I'll probably need that for food, so I'll 'beat' my way out to the country on foot."

As the Kensington police reconstruct the crime, Patacz, who left his boarding place Thursday, was attacked by vagrants or bandits as he attempted to travel in an empty box car.

The assault apparently dragged the body two blocks to the spot where it was discovered by H. M. Graves, an Illinois Central railway employe. The wallet containing the $40 was missing.

Italian City Continues to Sink; 50,000 Homeless

ROME, May 7.—News from Corato says the situation at the sinking city of Apulia, near Bari, Italy, is becoming most alarming. Almost all the 50,000 inhabitants are now homeless. A torrent of rain last night aggravated the situation, for the under soil, which has been corroded for years by subterranean currents of water, was still further softened.

Scratches Cause Arrest.

Sergt. Albert Mickus noticed deep scratches on his face, and the Homan avenue home had shown evidence of a desperate battle between the slayer and his victim, took him into custody. For hours Edward maintained his innocence; then he said, simply, "I killed him."

"William refused to lend me $700 to pay an indebtedness on my farm and we quarreled," he continued. "We had some drinks and went to bed together Friday night. At 4 a. m. William got up and nudged me. We started fighting. I hit him over the head with a stove poker. He fell on the bed and I ran out of the house."

Edward said he rode for hours on the elevated after fleeing the scene of the tragedy and then took a train to Bloomington. The first he knew of his brother's death, he said, came through a telephone call from a third brother, Charles, at Michigan City, Ind. He returned to Chicago to avoid suspicion against himself, he said.

Two Prisoners About to Be Mothers.

Pardons will be granted today to the six women held since Thursday in the county jail for contempt of court growing out of picketing of the American Cigar company during a strike three years ago. Word was received here last night that Gov. Small had notified his secretary, George D. Sutton, to have the pardons forwarded today.

The governor's action solves a WARDEN WESLEY problem which had been confronting him, namely, that of providing suitable accommodations for two of the six who are about to become mothers.

Pardons were decided upon at a conference yesterday in Kankakee between Gov. Small and attorneys representing the women. Four of them have their children in jail with them. It was this fact, coupled with the information about the approaching births, which caused the governor's decision.

Oscar Nelson, vice president of the Chicago Federation of Labor, yesterday sent a telegraphic request to the governor to pardon the women. In addition, Gov. Small received numerous requests from various civic organizations that he set the women free.

KILLED BROTHER FOR REFUSAL OF A LOAN, HE SAYS

Arrested When Drawn Back to View Body.

Edward Rocharek, 41 years old, a farmer, of Bloomington, Mich., confessed yesterday that he had beaten to death his brother William because the latter had refused him a loan of $700.

The body of William Rocharek, 49, was found early Saturday face down in a ditch near the Chicago, Lake Shore and South Bend railway, by Kensington police, who traced the course taken by Patacz's assailants, served to tell the story of the crime in part.

Patacz, 28 years old, was out of employment. He decided to go into the country and find work on a farm.

"I've got $40," he told neighbors who knew him when he lived at 155 East 107th street, "but I'll probably need that for food, so I'll 'beat' my way out to the country on foot."

As the Kensington police reconstruct the crime, Patacz, who left his boarding place Thursday, was attacked by vagrants or bandits as he attempted to travel in an empty box car.

The assault apparently dragged the body two blocks to the spot where it was discovered by H. M. Graves, an Illinois Central railway employe. The wallet containing the $40 was missing.

Italian City Continues to Sink; 50,000 Homeless

ROME, May 7.—News from Corato says the situation at the sinking city of Apulia, near Bari, Italy, is becoming most alarming. Almost all the 50,000 inhabitants are now homeless. A torrent of rain last night aggravated the situation, for the under soil, which has been corroded for years by subterranean currents of water, was still further softened.

Scratches Cause Arrest.

Sergt. Albert Mickus noticed deep scratches on his face, and the Homan avenue home had shown evidence of a desperate battle between the slayer and his victim, took him into custody. For hours Edward maintained his innocence; then he said, simply, "I killed him."

"William refused to lend me $700 to pay an indebtedness on my farm and we quarreled," he continued. "We had some drinks and went to bed together Friday night. At 4 a. m. William got up and nudged me. We started fighting. I hit him over the head with a stove poker. He fell on the bed and I ran out of the house."

Edward said he rode for hours on the elevated after fleeing the scene of the tragedy and then took a train to Bloomington. The first he knew of his brother's death, he said, came through a telephone call from a third brother, Charles, at Michigan City, Ind. He returned to Chicago to avoid suspicion against himself, he said.

Two Prisoners About to Be Mothers.

Pardons will be granted today to the six women held since Thursday in the county jail for contempt of court growing out of picketing of the American Cigar company during a strike three years ago. Word was received here last night that Gov. Small had notified his secretary, George D. Sutton, to have the pardons forwarded today.

The governor's action solves a WARDEN WESLEY problem which had been confronting him, namely, that of providing suitable accommodations for two of the six who are about to become mothers.

Pardons were decided upon at a conference yesterday in Kankakee between Gov. Small and attorneys representing the women. Four of them have their children in jail with them. It was this fact, coupled with the information about the approaching births, which caused the governor's decision.

Oscar Nelson, vice president of the Chicago Federation of Labor, yesterday sent a telegraphic request to the governor to pardon the women. In addition, Gov. Small received numerous requests from various civic organizations that he set the women free.

EGYPT CLAIMS SUDAN DESPITE BRITISH NOTE

(Copyright: 1922: By the New York Times.)

CAIRO, May 7.—A sensational development in the question of the Sudan has occurred in the decision of the commission which is drawing up the constitution for an independent Egypt to decree in the constitution that the Sudan is an integral part of Egypt and also that the king of Egypt is the sovereign of the Sudan.

This apparently is the reply to the British communique cabled on Thursday which said that the British government did not intend to give up its interest in the Sudan.

7 Passengers in Non-Stop Chicago to Detroit Flight

Detroit, Mich., May 7.—(Special.)—In a German built 160 horse power Junker airplane seven passengers today flew, without a stop, from Auburn field, Chicago, to the Motor field here. The trip was made in 2 hours and 32 minutes. Eddie Stinson, who owns the plane, was accompanied by Adolph Schaeffer, his mechanic; Charles Dickinson, president of the Aero Club of Illinois; E. G. Watson of the Detroit Free Press, Gordon Thomas, Stanley Kanus of the Stout engineering laboratories of Detroit, and newspaper man.

RIO DE JANEIRO, May 7.—The Portuguese aviators, Capt. Sacadura and Coutinho, received another plane at St. Paul rock today and probably will resume their trans-Atlantic flight tomorrow. They will fly to Fernando Noronha, and thence to the mainland of Brazil. After almost completing their trip over the ocean the airmen wrecked their plane in landing in the narrow bay at St. Paul rock. A new plane was sent to them from Lisbon.

Sees Other Motive.

Capt. Patacz said he does not believe Edward has told the whole truth. The captain sees another motive in the planned marriage of the dead brother and Miss Anna Burginski of Michigan City. William, it was learned, had considerable money, including a half interest in a $2,000 bank account and a mortgage on the Homan avenue home, which is owned by the brother Charles. The marriage would have destroyed Edward's chances of inheriting this.

Edward is married and has a son 16 years old. He admitted he said nothing to either his wife or son of the fight with his brother when he reached home.

ilities, we must seek the peace which our diplomats have meanwhile been preparing. This duty is all the more incumbent upon us in as much as we must say to ourselves that our chief ally, Austria-Hungary, by reason of her economic and, still more, of her political condition at home, will be unable to prosecute the war for more than a moderate length of time. I need scarcely add that, in Turkey, the situation is also anything but rosy.

America's Effect Noted.

"Now I do not for one moment overlook the fact that our adversaries also find themselves in a difficult position or that they dread another winter campaign. Yet, there are two factors which have recently evoked a certain change of opinion. The first is America's entrance into the struggle and the hopes which it has awakened; the second is the over-hasty action of the reichstag peace resolution as an absolute declaration of bankruptcy. Today in London and Paris and even in Rome people believe that they may wait for us to lay down our arms, since it is now only a question of time.

"Every idea of seeking peace via England is to be given up, and a resolute endeavor made to obtain peace with Russia.

"Should Russia not give way, then we can come before the people and say: 'We have done everything to bring about peace. It is now demonstrated that our enemies wish to destroy us; therefore we must strain every nerve to frustrate their aim.' Possibly such action may bring us unexpected help out of the ranks of the people.

"Our Distress on the Increase." "Under all circumstances, it is our duty to work for a not too distant peace; for, unless the U-boats shall have brought England to reason within the next four months, their further employment will not have the same effect as heretofore. Distress with us will increase, and the replenishment of our reserves of men will become more difficult from day to day.

"To conduct a policy properly one must have the courage to look facts in the face. A danger recognized is a danger half surmounted. Just now the preservation of the dynasty, the maintenance of the German empire and the existence of the German people are all concerned. If our enemies dictate peace, the last syllable of Hohenzollern, Prussian and German history will have been written.

"It dare not come to that; and therefore, it is our duty, if it so must be, to compromise a peace. Such a peace would truly be a disappointment; but an indefinite prolongation of the war might see us, in the spring of 1918, facing the whole world alone, shorn of our allies, bleeding from the severe wounds of a three and a half years' war and threatened with destruction.

"If we conclude an early peace with our eastern adversary, Russia will lie

HOTEL EXPERT

Woman's place is in the hotel, and hotel managers are just beginning to realize it, according to Mrs. Ida C. Bray of Chicago, president of the National Hotel Women's association, which is to take an active part in the six day exposition of National Hotel and Restaurant Equipment, which tomorrow opens a six day session at the Coliseum.

Through the activities of the women's associations, which were a year old in February, women will take a prominent part in the exposition. There will be a special women's program Wednesday, under the direction of Mrs. Bray. Feminine heads of hotel departments, members of the Hotel Women's association, and instructors and classes from the institutional management departments of a number of universities, including the University of Chicago, Northwestern, University of Wisconsin, and Ohio State, will attend.

"The women," said Mrs. Bray, "hope to present many suggestions to the hotel men that will help cut down expenses and improve the efficiency of management in their branches of the work."

open to us as a domain for economic expansion. If that peace comes too late, then we come too late, because the Americans will have gained a firm footing in that vast realm. But we must also remember that, with an early peace, we should have financially won the war.

"One thing is certain: if we but maintain ourselves in this war, we shall be the real victors, because we shall have fought the whole world without being destroyed. This will procure us after the war an unexampled prestige and an enormous increase of power. Our position resembles that of Frederick the Great, prior to the peace of Hubertburg. He stands rightly recorded in history as the victor, because he was not defeated.

[Signed.] "WILHELM, Crown Prince of the German Empire and of Prussia."

Almost Constantly Urging Peace. In quoting the memorials addressed by me, in December, 1915, and in July, 1917, to the kaiser, the higher command and the imperial chancellor, I have demonstrated that, during the war, I repeatedly and urgently advocated preparing the way for a peace by compromise. Of course the drafts referred to were only two of the many efforts which I made in the same direction.

It would vastly exceed the limits of my memoirs to document all that I undertook, subsequent to the Battle of the Marne, for the carrying out of my never recanted idea concerning the intolerability of an indefinite duration of the war, both for those at the front and those at home, as well as the urgent need for a compromise which, even though it might appear scarcely beneficial at first, its advantages over such an arrangement after complete exhaustion.

What I regret is only the fact that, as a politically irresponsible adviser, I possessed neither the means nor the power to influence successfully the politically responsible persons, and that I had to look on while political resolutions and irresolution were, as I believed, determining unhappily the destiny of Germany.

Gen. Ludendorff's Complaint.

Gen. Ludendorff complains bitterly in his war memoirs that the government at home did scarcely anything to keep alive the "will to victory" in the German people, or to combat energetically the tendency to defeatism. I, too, could not resist the impression that, during the war, the proper authorities permitted these tendencies to grow without adopting any energetic counter measures.

Defeatism, which, heedless of other regards, was energetically crushed in France, England, and America, as a principle adverse to the necessities of the hour and opposed to the interests of the state, was allowed to run riot with us. Our government were powerless to cope with it, yet believed themselves able to silence and exorcise the anti-national doings by weakly indulgence. Nervously they let things take their course, seemingly disinclined to picture to themselves the fatal end to which, sooner or later, it must lead.

Civil dictators, conscious of their road and with eyes fixed on victory, like Clemenceau and Lloyd George, were utterly lacking with us. In these personal recollections of mine, I feel impelled to say a few words about the two men whose names, for the whole German people, their idea of military leadership, namely, Field Marshal von Hindenburg and his first quartermaster general, Gen. Ludendorff.

If I were to characterize the field marshal general as he appeared to me in the years of his zenith I would say that the greatest impression was made by the simple energy and composure of his self-contained personality. It was a composure that communicated itself to every one who came into contact with him, convinced every one that the fate of the armies was well cared for in that calm, firm hand, watched over by those earnest and yet ever friendly eyes.

While anything but an unerring vindicator of Gen. Ludendorff's view or a mute admirer of all his acts, I nevertheless account him to be a surpassingly great German commander, characterized by the strongest patriotic energy and a sense of duty which stood at the head of the German army like a symbol of its traditions and of its conscience.

Battle of the Marne.

October, 1920.

So, then, I am said to be unanswerable for the disastrous retreat ordered by the higher command after the battle of the Marne in the year 1914. These over-people know that with unerring certainty. Perhaps, therefore, it is not altogether out of place if I state what I know of this battle that formed the turning point of our destiny—more particularly since what has so far been uttered on the subject by serious and critical observers tell very little concerning the events of the 8th, 9th, and 10th armies.

A fault of mine? Only mean malice could invent such an idea, or unbounded stupidity could believe it. As commander in chief of the 8th army I led the advance of my army in August, 1914; I saw the decisions and notices issued and was present at the scanty discussions with the general higher command and with the adjacent armies; finally I had the best of opportunities to watch and study hourly the development of affairs during the battle of the Marne. My impression is that it was an unfortunate combination of many circumstances that led to this mischievous result. Besides the unquestionable incompetency and the consequent moral and physical collapse of Gen. von Moltke there was the unfortunate and rapidly disorganized leadership of the... by Gen. von Büllo and the absolute disastrous activity of...

His Estimate of Von Moltke.

Gen. Moltke was a thoroughly high minded man and a devoted friend of my father's.

The great personal amiability and ardent human cordiality which he possessed rendered it difficult for him to gain that authoritative sense essential to the chief of a general staff. During my service with that staff, it was mentioned to me as typical that even the quartermasters general used to report to the old and inexorable Schleffen with a certain feeling of nervousness, whereas everybody liked appearing before Gen. von Moltke.

His headquarters in Luxembourg were much too far removed from the scene of battle; and, at such a distance, he could not follow events with the necessary certainty—could not supervise them with the necessary clearness; possibly, too, the eyes of the essential and the requisite rapidity of response failed him at the crucial moments of the battle. In any case, the great imperfections of communication at that time gave rise to difficulties, so that there was occasionally a complete lack of connection with the advancing army.

Lacked Unity of Leadership.

This destroyed the unity of leadership; ultimately, the armies, who they had started their advance and knew their road, each waged war more or less independently, communicating with its neighbor as occasion required.

Immediately after the battle of Longwy, I was called to the great headquarters in Luxembourg. I took the opportunity of talking quite unequivocally with Moltke's right hand man, Lieut. Col. Tappen, concerning the loose control of the armies by the high command, and I demanded permanent communicating officers between the general higher command and the general command of each army. The remark that no change was necessary, as everything was working excellently as it was.

When the situation of the first and second armies became acute, the chief of the general staff sent Lieut. Col. Hentsch as courier officer of the general higher command on a tour of inspection to the higher command in each army.

As Gen. von Kuhl once told me, the decision as to the outcome of the battle was laid in his hands.

MAKE M'CORMICK ZOO FENCELESS, HAGENBACK SAYS

Would Have Animals as in Their Natural State.

A "fenceless zoo" was suggested for the McCormick Zoological Gardens by Henrick Hagenback, zoologist and dealer in wild animals, after a detailed inspection yesterday of its proposed site in the forest preserve.

Mr. Hagenback was accompanied by members of the board of trustees of the zoological society and its president, John T. McCutcheon, at whose request Mr. Hagenback came from Germany to offer suggestions for the project.

A "fenceless zoo," Mr. Hagenback explained, permits the display of the animals and birds in a way most nearly approaching their natural habits. This effect is obtained by bolstering the natural landscape, wherever necessary, with boulders, trees, cliffs, and water.

Animals Turned Loose. Instead of keeping the animals in cages, they are turned loose within a space surrounded by barriers. The various animals run together. The quail, like the deer and zebra, and the birds, are kept in another portion of the grounds.

Following the trip to the forest preserve, the party was shown films in the Hotel La Salle by Mr. Hagenback, giving views of his immense "fenceless zoo" in Stellingen, Hamburg, Germany.

Before the war, Mr. Hagenback, explained, he and his brothers owned several wild animal farms. One of 36,000 acres in German East Africa, was lost to Germany through the negotiations following the war. Through the years

PLANNING COOK COUNTY'S CAGELESS ZOO

County officials and officers of the Chicago Zoological society met yesterday with Henrick Hagenback, celebrated zoo owner, to make plans for the zoo to be established in the forest preserve, for which Edith Rockefeller McCormick furnished the ground. of strife the zoo at Stellingen was depleted because it was necessary to feed the animals to each other or to the hungry populace. He is now negotiating with the allies for the resumption of his trade in wild animals.

Polar Bear Inured to Heat. Mr. Hagenback told the zoo representatives the walrus was the most difficult to keep in captivity because of its particularity about food. Contrary to opinion, he said, the polar bear could stand more heat than any other wild animal.

Mr. Hagenback offered as one of his suggestions that an island be made of a strip in the forest preserve where Salt creek now flows a "U." On this, he said, the birds of North America could be displayed in natural surroundings, with pathways for spectators. Nothing definite has been decided on Mr. Hagenback's suggestions, Mr. McCutcheon said last night. Other experts from various parts of this country will look over the ground before definite plans are made.

KAISER PLANNED TO OCCUPY HAITI, LANSING STATES

Washington, D. C., May 7.—(Special.)—That Germany was on the point of setting a foot-hold in Haiti when the European war broke out is disclosed by a letter from Secretary of State Lansing to Senator McCormick (Ill.), chairman of the senate select committee investigating American occupation of the Negro republic.

Concluding an exhaustive review of the events leading up to American intervention, Mr. Lansing says the United States was actuated by two motives:

"1. To terminate the appalling conditions of anarchy, savagery, and oppression which had been prevalent in Haiti for decades, and to establish domestic peace in the republic.

"2. A desire to forestall any attempt by a foreign power to obtain a foothold on this hemisphere."

Story of the Plot. The German scheme to get possession of Mole St. Nicholas, a point of great strategic value in Haiti, came to the attention of Washington in 1913 and 1914. The Germans also were maneuvering to obtain control of the Haitian customs revenue to satisfy Italian debts to German nationals.

"On June 1, 1914," Mr. Lansing writes, "the American minister at Port au Prince reported to the state department that he was reliably informed that the Haitians would lease Mole St. Nicholas to the United States on the basis of a cash payment and a yearly rental if America should pledge itself not to interfere with the collection or administration of the customs and would protect Haiti against any other nation or nations which might attempt to secure control of the customs. As the United States was not interested, no reply was sent to the minister's telegram."

In July, 1914, Berlin informed Washington that the right to participate in control of the Haitian customs could not be waived.

Strange Action of Germans. "On the eve of the declaration of war between Germany and Russia," Mr. Lansing continues, "the United States ship Connecticut and the German cruiser Karlsruhe were in the harbor of Port au Prince. On July 31, 1914, the Karlsruhe changed its position in order to screen the movements of its crew, and a number of boatsloads of German sailors with small arms and machine guns left the Karlsruhe and proceeded to the wharf and landed.

"When half way down the wharf the Germans turned about, returned to their boats, and went back to their ship. This mysterious action took place at dusk. The Karlsruhe then steamed out to begin its commerce destroying cruise. Shortly afterward the captain of the Connecticut was informed by wireless that war between Russia and Germany had been declared."

"There is reason to believe the German landing party was turned back on the wharf by the German minister to Haiti pursuant to cabled orders."

TEETH OF SMALL CHILDREN NOW INTEREST MAYOR

Saw Dental Institution in Visit to Boston.

New York, May 7. — [Special.] — Mayor William Hale Thompson of Chicago returned tonight from Boston, where he visited the Forsyth institution, a building endowed by private philanthropy for the purpose of attending to the dental needs of children. Mayor Thompson was the guest of Mayor Curley. He said that Chicago "was to have a $500,000 building modeled after that of the Forsyth institution."

"Children are charged 5 cents for a dental treatment at the institution," he said. "The organization was begun with a $2,000,000 endowment, and it gives 30,000 treatments annually."

"The institution is doing remarkable work with the children. Those who need tonsil or adenoid operations are cared for and everything possible is done to get the children into the best possible health to go on with their studies."

"We have raised in Chicago $150,000 toward the $500,000 which we are to spend on the building for the dental care of our children. The money was part of the surplus of the business exposition which we conducted last year and which we have decided to make an annual institution."

"At present Chicago caters to the eye needs of the city's children adequately and we feel that we need an organization like that of Boston. We have now a dental infirmary for our children with eight chairs, but there is a larger demand for this work and we will try to meet it."

The Thompson party will leave New York for Atlantic City tomorrow morning. Later the party will go to Philadelphia for a day or two, and then to Washington.

SHIPPING BOARD WILL DISREGARD FOREIGN PROTEST

Washington, D. C., May 7.—The shipping board today served notice upon foreign shipping interests that any opposition to the application of "section 28 of the merchant marine act of 1920 would be disregarded" by the board.

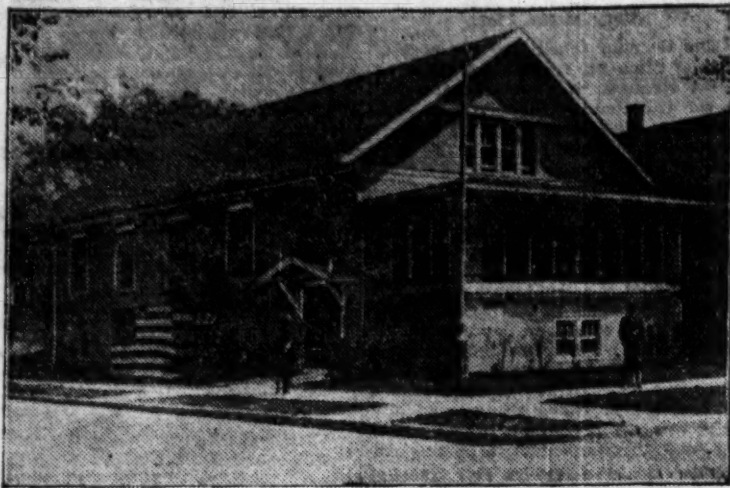

A committee composed of the board is conducting hearings to determine whether section 28, which prohibits granting preferential rates to foreign shipping, should be put into effect. American ships, if furnishing adequate tonnage, would be given the preferential rates under the act.

Members of the board have made no secret that they believe they have encountered organized opposition from British interests and the latter's American agents, and declare the same opposition is apparent against the proposed ship subsidy.

Announcing hearings for the gulf division at New Orleans May 16, and for the central division at St. Louis May 18, the board says the hearings will be "solely upon the adequacy of American flag tonnage" and not "upon any adverse or beneficial effect the application of section 28 would have."

G. O. P. IS FEARFUL THAT BONUS VETO WILL LOSE VOTES

Washington, D. C., May 7.—[Special.]—Republican leaders are fearful that President Harding will veto the bonus bill. Those Republicans seeking reelection and eager for bonus legislation have been saying for many weeks that the President would sign any bonus bill sent to him by congress. Now their attitude has changed.

Secretary Mellon is not opposed to immediate bonus legislation but holds that the money must be raised by tax forms of such taxation as well as a sales tax. Congress is opposed to a sales tax and has rejected other forms of taxation.

Its attitude apparently was to get the legislation on the books and let the future take care of the revenues, having in mind chiefly that the payment of interest by Great Britain on its loan and later the sale of English bonds to redeem the principal would furnish the necessary revenues.

ILLINOIS MINERS
INDIFFERENT AS
STRIKE DRAGS ONSpring, a Pig, and a Few Chickens Help Out.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Springfield, Ill., May 7.—[Special.]—The coal strike in its sixth week, the 35,000 coal workers of Illinois appear to be still making a spring holiday of the walkout. No evidence of wear, hardship and privation have crept to the surface.

As one travels down the Illinois river valley from the La Salle region to Peoria and over the hard pine into the Springfield district, he finds little to indicate that a great basic industry is tied up by the largest industrial association in American history.

The diggers are deserted, save for a few miles kicking up their heels in the corral, and a few repairmen. The smokestacks are smokeless, and the shutdown is tighter than a kettle drum. That's all.

Be Humil. Yes, There's a Strike.
Among the idle workers the walkout itself seems to be no longer even an interesting theme for conversation.

As one journeys through landscapes dotted with May blossoms, he sees miners fishing from the river bank or digging in their gardens getting ready for summer's "cats." The little mining communities, so far visited in this tour of the coal fields, are quite used to idleness at this time of year.

Generally speaking, the strike so far has not been followed by any particular financial pinch or pressure to which both the miners and the mining communities are not well used at this time of year, even in approximately normal times.

Expected a Wage Reduction.
Two beliefs appear quite prevalent among the men. They are:

1. The miners are quite ready to accept a reasonable wage cut. They say, in general, that from the kickoff they expected some wage deflation, but not as large a one, of course, as the operators would like to make. In talking with scores of miners, the general opinion expressed was that a slash of 10 to 25 per cent would be the figure. It would about put tonnage rates back to 1917, and would leave the day men about $1 higher than in 1917, giving them about $6 a day maximum, as against $7.50 in the contract which expired April 1.

2. June or July will see negotiations under way between miners and operators. The miners believe that by that time the coal supplies will be reduced to a point where some pressure will manifest itself concerning preparations for next winter. And settlement negotiations are slow, anyhow, and this in questions over working conditions that even after conferences start it will take a long time to reach a settlement.

Miners Are Indifferent.
The miners say they can stick it out indefinitely. The good old summer time, which weakens the force of the strike by the lessened demand for coal, also is the period when subsistence is easiest for a man with a garden plot and a few chickens and a hog or two.

At Springfield, where Italian and Polish and Lithuanian miners are planting their gardens and trimming little vineyards and grape vines trellises, a number of miners were playing at bowls on a level stretch just outside town.

Around Peoria, where mines were operating only two days a week last summer, the miners are not as well healed for prolonged unemployment as they are in some other districts, but there is no pessimism—not on a bright, sunny day in May, anyhow.

The 6,000 mine workers around Springfield so far have felt little more pressure than customary for this time of year. Business men report the strike has not affected general trade, which is picking up, due largely to more buying in the country.

Other industries are recovering—the watch factory is working four days and the motor plant five days a week, while public improvements are progressing on which $1,000,000 is being spent.

DOYLE SHOWS
OF W. T. STEAD

New York, May 7.—[Special.]—Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, in his lecture on spiritualism in Carnegie hall today, showed more of his photographs of "spirits" built up out of the mysterious ectoplasm and gave a new explanation of the devil.

One of the new photographs in his exhibit showed W. T. Stead, the famous British writer and editor, who perished on the Titanic. It was a clear portrait of a man, and around the outside was scribbled the words in handwriting which Sir Arthur said was undoubtedly Stead's, these words: "I will try to keep you posted."

Explaining what these words meant, Sir Arthur said he had been informed a friend named Walker accompanied Mr. Stead to the station to bid him farewell just before the start of the voyage on the Titanic, and that Stead's last words were, "I will try to keep you posted."

Walker hurried to the laboratory after the death of Stead and asked the medium there to get a picture of Stead, if possible.

He showed also Stead's daughter in pictures with "spirits" summoned to the photographic plate by her, and another photograph of "and old gentleman from Aberdeen," whose "spirit" smiled through from the "other world." Sir Arthur pointed out that the smile was not a frequent phenomenon.

HEAD OF RUSSIA
CHURCH DEFIES
SOVIET COURT
MOSCOW, May 8.—[By the Associated Press.]—The trial before the supreme revolutionary tribunal of the Most Rev. Mr. Tikhon, patriarch of all-Russia, and Archbishop Nikandei, who are accused of opposing the requisitioning for the relief of the famine stricken, continued today. The trial constitutes a picture of a clash of ages old tradition with the revolutionary spirit of today. This act of the drama in Russian history is being played in a tribunal which looks like a theater, and the actors and audience seem as theatrical as real.

Today the state prosecutor addressed the patriarch, to whom millions make obeisance, as "Citizen Balaivin," asking what was his business and whom he ruled.

"I rule the faithful of Russia, and also the churches, and, therefore, church property which cannot be taken by anyone but God," calmly replied Archbishop Tikhon.

Reminded that millions of famine stricken were dependent on the sale of the church treasures being seized, Mr. Tikhon replied that this was not his business, but the business of the government.

Mexican Troops End
Career of Yankee Bandit
Mexico City, May 7.—[By the Associated Press.]—Monte Michael, alleged to be an American, yesterday with six men entered a small camp near Zacamixtila maintained by the International Petroleum company, and demanded that the paymaster surrender the funds in his possession. The paymaster refused and while a struggle was in progress federal troops entered the camp and shot and killed Michael and dispersed the members of his band. Michael's body was taken to the city hall in Tampico, where it was placed on exhibition. It is said Michael had been operating in the oil regions for several months. He was charged with blowing up a train at Chorreras last October, when several persons were killed.

"Dear Me! So Many Manners!"
SO say certain sprightly ladies in the social circles where Vogue's "Essays in Etiquette" have set tongues a-chatter. Quite true! But have you ever thought, my dears, that perhaps our new-found liberties of speech and votes and knickerbockers may have intoxicated femininity a trifle too much? That perhaps the ladies of the Age of Manners knew what they were about when they made such mysterious capital of a half-glimpsed ankle? That possibly delicacy and sensibility and modesty were graces that man could never fully comprehend and consequently adored? That charm was a weapon against which he could not match a sword? That in the Age of Manners women wielded a power, exacted a deference, and occupied a throne that some of us today may well envy? Vogue is of the opinion that we have increased the brevity of skirts and manners as far as the thing can be done; and that it is now time for us to look back into a vanished era and see if we have not, perhaps, lost more than we can afford. Vogue's "Essays in Etiquette" will continue for some months, taking up every nice point of usage and every good reason for good manners. This issue deals with the etiquette of children towards their elders—and that of elders towards their children, a point, alas! sometimes overlooked. And Vogue's Information Service is now—as always—at your disposal whenever you wish personal counsel. Be sure to get all the issues of Vogue containing this series. We cannot supply missing numbers later. May fifteenth ready now.

SO say certain sprightly ladies in the social circles where Vogue's "Essays in Etiquette" have set tongues a-chatter. Quite true! But have you ever thought, my dears, that perhaps our new-found liberties of speech and votes and knickerbockers may have intoxicated femininity a trifle too much? That perhaps the ladies of the Age of Manners knew what they were about when they made such mysterious capital of a half-glimpsed ankle? That possibly delicacy and sensibility and modesty were graces that man could never fully comprehend and consequently adored? That charm was a weapon against which he could not match a sword? That in the Age of Manners women wielded a power, exacted a deference, and occupied a throne that some of us today may well envy? Vogue is of the opinion that we have increased the brevity of skirts and manners as far as the thing can be done; and that it is now time for us to look back into a vanished era and see if we have not, perhaps, lost more than we can afford. Vogue's "Essays in Etiquette" will continue for some months, taking up every nice point of usage and every good reason for good manners. This issue deals with the etiquette of children towards their elders—and that of elders towards their children, a point, alas! sometimes overlooked. And Vogue's Information Service is now—as always—at your disposal whenever you wish personal counsel. Be sure to get all the issues of Vogue containing this series. # GREATER VARIETIES AND GREATER VALUES

These, Combined With Finest Quality, Have Made This the World's Greatest Store for Men and Boys

What's the Price of Good Clothes?

There is nothing the public buys in which quality and style are so important as in clothing. Nor is there anything in which cheap workmanship can be so easily concealed from the casual observer.

Good clothing is made up of three things—good fabrics, good design and good tailoring. Skimping any one of them will cheapen clothing in price, but it will cheapen it far more in quality. You can buy cheap clothing, which may look well when you first put it on, it may be made of good fabric, but the real test comes after you wear it—that's when quality begins to show up.

Our Clothing is Good Clothing, smartly styled. The price represents the quality that's in it. The kind of clothing that makes satisfied customers—and that's the kind we want.

MADER DECLARES CARPENTERS ARE LOYAL TO COUNCIL

Building Trades Head Is Facing Fight.

The rank and file of the thirty-seven carpenters' unions affiliated with the Carpenters' District Council will repudiate the action taken by the organization in withdrawing from the Chicago Building Trades Council, Fred Mader, president of the central body, predicted last night.

The proposal of Harry Jensen, president of the carpenters, to ask Sam Gompers and John Donlin, head of the building trades department of the American Federation of Labor, to establish a new building trades council here is absurd, Mader said.

"So long as the present council is functioning for the good of organized labor there is no danger of the organization of a new council," if another council were organized, a certain faction in the trades council would demand that its officials be drawn from the rank and file of the unions, according to a rumor that was current yesterday.

Council Is Split.

The building trades council at present is divided into two factions: One consisting of the leaders of the twenty organizations working under the Landis award contracts; the other composed of the eleven anti-Landis award unions which have been placed on the open shop by the citizens' committee. Recently the pro-Landis award unions have absented themselves from the building trades council meetings.

Walkout Threatened.

Announcement was made a few days ago by Mader that a general shutdown on all building construction would take place on May 22 unless the contractors discharged nonunion building trade workers prior to that date. The action of the carpenters in withdrawing from the trades council is likely to postpone the date, it was asserted by union officials last night.

Cleveland Banker to Help Hays Make Over Movies

New York, May 7.—[United News.]—Ralph Hayes, vice president of the Cleveland Trust company of Cleveland, O., has been "loaned" as a special assistant to Will Hays in the latter's attempt to make over the motion picture industry.

PROF. STARR ASSAILS WASHINGTON PEACE MEET AS PRO-BRITISH

Beginning with President Harding and ending with the relations between China and Japan, Prof. Frederick Starr of the University of Chicago subjected the recent disarmament conference at Washington to a scathing arraignment yesterday at the Great Northern hotel, before the All-American National Council of Illinois.

"A rebuke to Woodrow Wilson and his league of nations was called for at the election," said Prof. Starr. "That was the reason for the election of President Harding. But the President evidently has forgotten that he was put in his high office to keep us out of entangling alliances."

The conference, he went on, was called to settle Pacific affairs. Nations most concerned in the Pacific, as Mexico, the South American republics, Russia, China, all with extensive sea coasts—none was invited, or would have been welcome had they sent representatives.

"In its calling, in makeup, in direction, in results and advantages, it was British," Prof. Starr declared.

"The conference swept the American fleet from the seas. Our merchant marine is checked for ten years. We have turned the seas over to Great Britain."

MISSING REALTY MAN HOME; TELLS KIDNAPING STORY

A story of imprisonment for hours in a vacant building on the west side, of being beaten, drugged and then robbed was told yesterday by Rollin F. Morrow, a realty operator, 60 years old, when he returned to his home at 427 Grand boulevard, following a vain search for him by police since last Thursday.

"My husband was walking along Van Buren street near Halsted on Thursday on his way to keep a business appointment when a man shoved a gun against his side and forced him into a vacant building nearby," said Mrs. Morrow. "He says when he recovered consciousness he found himself wandering helplessly on the west side. His senses were dulled by drugs and his pockets were empty."

MISS CULBERSON VANISHES; BRITON IS IN NEW JERSEY

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)

Washington, D. C., May 7.—[Special.]—Senator and Mrs. Charles A. Culberson of Texas, refused today to discuss the interrupted romance between their daughter and Alec Robertson, British war veteran. Inquiries at the Culberson apartment were met with the unvarying statement that neither the Senator nor Mrs. Culberson would receive newspaper correspondents, that they "had nothing to say," and that Miss Mary Culberson, though admittedly in Washington, was not at the apartment.

At Holton Arms, the finishing school formerly attended by Miss Culberson, it was stated that she was no longer a student there and her whereabouts was not known.

Secretary May See Him.

C. E. Jurney, the senator's private secretary, has gone to Bloomfield, N. J., where Robertson is living. Maurice D. Petersen, secretary of the British embassy, said he had received a letter from Mrs. Mary P. Andrews of Bloomfield, N. J., stating that her nephew, Alec F. Robertson, had been kidnaped and taken to Boston.

and calling upon the embassy for assistance. "We have not seen nor heard from Robertson directly," Mr. Petersen explained. "When we received the letter from his aunt we immediately instructed Consul General Porter at Boston to get in touch with Robertson, find out the circumstances, and take appropriate action."

They Let Him Go.

"Mr. Porter later advised the embassy that before he had been able to get in touch with Robertson he learned that the young man had been voluntarily released, or, at least, that he had left Boston, apparently alone and without coercion. Nothing in the consul general's report indicated that Robertson had been kidnaped."

"We have heard nothing further from either Robertson or his aunt, Mrs. Andrews. The embassy at present, therefore, is not taking any interest in the matter, and will take none unless Robertson appeals to us on unjust it appears that he is not receiving justice."

Bodies of Rich Man and Boatman Found in Wreck

Oakland, Cal., May 7.—The bodies of John R. Hanify, wealthy lumberman, and George Anderson, a boatman, were found today entangled in the wreckage of the yacht Quart, near Hayward, on the Alameda county side of San Francisco bay. The body of E. A. Christensen, wealthy shipping and lumber man, the third member of a yachting party, had not been found early tonight.

How Much For Distribution?

Many are willing to spend thousands, even millions, on plant, machinery and equipment; but are unwilling to devote a small percentage to moving or distributing the output of the plant. Yet the savings in efficient production are lost many times by ineffective distribution.

1921 and 1922 prove that an enterprise is no better than its DISTRIBUTION. Output depends absolutely on Outlet. It is useless to produce what you cannot sell at reasonable sales cost. Because advertising to the public is proving an economical means of helping sales to the retailer, men, hitherto skeptical, are investigating advertising.

We welcome opportunity to discuss the use of advertising in selling merchandise.

WOMAN TRIES TO DIE IN LAKE, BUT IS SAVED

Despondent because of alleged domestic difficulties, Mrs. Hazel McGinnis, 30, 1725 West Madison street, attempted suicide last night by leaping into the lake at the foot of Ontario street. She had just alighted from a taxicab driven by Edward Stenzenbecker, 5429 Ingleside avenue.

Running to the edge of the water, the driver reached out and, with the help of another man, pulled the woman back to the shore. Police were called and she was removed to Passavant hospital.

Mrs. McGinnis got into the taxicab at Madison street and Western avenue. Shortly after she commenced to ride she ordered the driver to stop. She then threw her purse to women standing near by. The purse was returned to her. On resuming the ride she directed that she be driven to the foot of Ontario street.

Irish Army Chiefs Act
Under Truce.

BULLETIN.
KILKENNY, May 7.—(By the Associated Press.)—One hundred and eight prisoners captured by the men of the regular army during the recent fighting were unconditionally released from the military barracks today as a result of the army truce.

BY PAUL WILLIAMS.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
[Copyright, 1922, by The Chicago Tribune.]
DUBLIN, May 7.—Let us have a government by which our lives, liberties, and properties will be secure, or we know the worst at once. No more even dawned more favorably than ours did, and no day was ever more clouded than the present. We are fast verging to anarchy. Good God, who besides a Tory could have foreseen, or a Briton predicted the disasters which have arisen?

This quotation is not Irish and does not refer to the Irish situation, but these are the words George Washington uttered over 130 years ago. They were lifted by a Dublin jurist, who is a legal Irishman and wants to impress those of Irish descent in America that the colonies there, after getting their heads out of the British yoke, had troubles similar to those Ireland is experiencing.

In his opinion, the widest difference between the situation in the United States in 1787 and the situation in Ireland in 1922 is a difference of temperament. He does not think there is any more danger of Ireland going bolshevist than there was of the thirteen colonies going bolshevist when the conditions there were so bad that George Washington became so black with depression that he said, "Man, kind, when left to themselves, are unfit for their own government."

Cites Shay Rebellion.
George Washington, too, met with opposition not unlike that directed against the provisional government, according to Marshall's biography, which says:

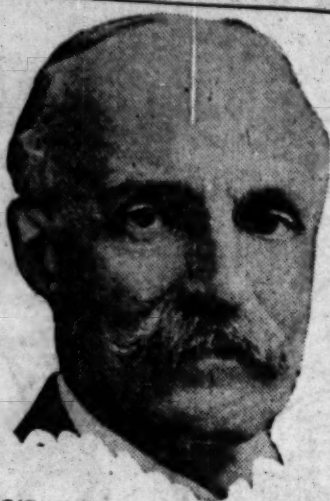

"The army of lawlessness, led by Shay, took the field against taxes and the administration of justice. The circulation of depreciated currency was required as a relief from the pressure of public and private burdens. Against lawyers and courts the strongest resentments were manifested, and tumultuous assemblages arrested the course of the law and restrained the judges from proceeding in the execution of their duty."

"Appeals to reason were attended with no beneficial effect. Forbearance of the government was attributed to timidity rather than moderation and the spirit of insurrection appeared organized into a regular system for the suppression of the courts. A considerable part of the people considered all the government dissolved and themselves in a state of absolute liberty."

"Convicted Spy" Shot.
DUBLIN, May 7.—[By the Associated Press.]—The body of a man was found in Gortin, County Tyrone, Saturday night. He had been shot through the heart. A note attached to his clothing read: "Beware! Convicted spy."

A band of armed men shot and killed Anthony McConville near Portadown, Armagh, this morning.

HOUSE RENTERS' UNION IN MEXICO HITS LANDLORDS

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
Mexico City, May 7.—The house renters' union has taken the law into its own hands. Yesterday it notified the proprietors' union that in addition to paying only 25 per cent of the present rent, it will appoint health and building inspectors, will repair buildings at the expense of the owners, will present its own form of contract for rent, will furnish no guarantee for the payment of rent as the law now requires, and will allow no member of the union to be put out of his house without the previous consent of the union. The union threatens to swamp house owners with new regulations and requisitions, which it is now preparing.

RADIO DEALERS HAVE L SHAPED SALES DISTRICT

BY CHARLES SLOAN.

Even as the automobile industry picked South Michigan avenue as the center of its display rooms, so radio apparently has chosen Wells street, south of Madison, and Madison, west of Wells, for its headquarters.

"Radio Row," as the L-shaped section already is being called, now houses not less than eight wholesale houses and retail stores. And more are appearing there daily.

On a signboard announcing a vacancy of a six story building on South Wells a special bid is made for a radio establishment. Two other stores, it is said, are to be vacated soon to make room for the sale of wireless apparatus to a public which doesn't like to wander to half a dozen points of the loop to compare different apparatus.

Just why this should be no one knows. South Wells street, with boulevards and surface car line on it, isn't especially conducive to clear reception for demonstration purposes. Madison street holds the same restrictions as far as surface lines are concerned. And yet—

But radio distribution isn't fully confined to this section. Virtually all the large department stores have established departments. Radio apparatus is for sale at numerous music stores, especially on Wabash avenue. Even Michigan boulevard is feeling the impetus of the industry.

On South State street the 5 and 10 cent stores have added radio counters where everything from a foot of wire to a condenser blade may be purchased. And at least one large book store has made a place for crystal sets and tubes and sockets in their show windows.

Wholesalers are hoping for a let-down in purchasing during the summer that they may fill their back orders and lay in a supply of goods for immediate delivery when the certain fall demand opens up.

What the outcome of it all will be, we don't know. It looks as though radio has come to stay and that the people won't be satisfied until all who can afford it have an outfit installed.

Station WBU of the city hall is scheduled to start musical programs tonight. At 7:30, however, George W. Rosseter, chairman of the ways and means committee of the Association of Commerce, will deliver an address of welcome to visiting delegates at the fourth national hotel and restaurant equipment exposition at the Coliseum.

SON WON'T BURY FAMILY WAR IN CROKER'S GRAVE

New York, May 7.—[Special.]—Richard Croker Jr., announced tonight that he would refuse to acquiesce in the present disposition of his father's property, now held by Mrs. Beulah Edmonson Croker, the former Tammany chieftain's second wife, and take all possible legal steps to protect whatever rights he might have.

Subject to possible legal inhibitions, Mr. Croker made it clear that he intended to press the legal actions now pending in New York county against his father's estate, continue the suit in Florida to wrest from the control of Mrs. Croker two miles of Palm Beach water front property, which has been appraised at $2,000,000, and possibly to start a will contest.

He said, however, he believed his father at the time of his death did not possess much property that had not been wholly or partly turned over to his Indian wife and was subject to bequest.

MOSCOW JOYOUS OVER REPORT OF U. S. RECOGNITION

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
MOSCOW, May 7.—The Soviet officials here are jubilant regarding the report, credited by the Manchester Guardian to a Washington correspondent, that President Harding has favored and Herbert Hoover has seconded a de jure recognition of Russia at a cabinet meeting. The Manchester Guardian is regarded here as pro-Bolshevik, while the report was broadcast in Europe by a German radio.

Expect U. S. Agreement.

The Rigaische Rundschau's Moscow correspondent interviewed M. Stechlov, the editor of the Moscow Investia, who is reported as saying that the Soviets expect to close their next agreement with the United States because the Geneva conference is rapidly becoming a fiasco. M. Stechlov says that America will give in easier than Europe because it will fight former interests in Russia. He says the Americans will be granted concessions and most favorable terms, the Soviets especially offering the Siberian railroad.

The Moscow Version.

Discussing the agreement with Germany, M. Stechlov says the week previous France approached the Soviets with $3,000,000,000 gold marks about $1,500,000,000 indemnity and de jure recognition, providing the Soviets acknowledged the Versailles treaty, but Russia chose Germany, needing its support in Russia's insistence upon a loan on all the other questions. "Our position is terrible," said M. Stechlov, clutching his throat in trying to illustrate strangling Russia. "If the Geneva conference fails we will negotiate for separate agreements, with the United States first."

CHICAGO GIFTS CHEER HEARTS OF RUSSIA POOR

SIMBIRSK, Russia, April 7.—[By Mail.]—At least five destitute homes in the Simbirsk Gubernia (state government), embracing about 21,000 square miles, are blessing the name of Chicago. For $10 American relief administration packages have just been given to them through the generosity of the cooperative association "Svobodnaya Rossiya" and "Independent society," care of the National State bank, 1801 Milwaukee avenue, Chicago.

"Families in Dire Need."

Edward Fox, district supervisor of the American relief administration, and Philip B. Shield, in charge of the food remittance department, have just submitted a report to the above societies. The only stipulation made by the donors was that the recipients should be "families in dire need." One day an educated Tartar girl reported to Mr. Shield that she had seen a family of her own race, living in a loft of one of the shacks in the Tartar section of Simbirsk, in the most extreme poverty, and likely to die within a few days unless aid was sent.

Finds the Family.

Mr. Shield made a personal investigation. There was no fuel nor food. Lying on a pile of dirty straw and debris on the floor was the blind mother of the family, too weak to get up when the American entered. Besides her were two starving children. The father had only one garment—a long thin coat. He was too weak to work. A food package was given them.

Two weeks later the man came to the American relief administration office, accompanied by one of the children, to show how greatly they had improved since receiving the American food. His courage and hope had been restored, and he was once more able to assume the burden of supporting his dependent family.

Another instance where one of these Chicago packages was a literal lifesaver was that of a widow in Simbirsk. Her husband had died, and she was left with one small child, and no food or money to support it. The other packages found like worthy recipients.

HEARTY ATTACK KILLS.

Heart disease is believed by police to be responsible for the death of Alessandro Nicoli, 60 years, whose body was found yesterday in his home at 6737 South Cottage avenue.

CHICAGOAN ON ARMENIA ERRAND PREY OF BANDITS

ALEXANDROPOL, Armenia, April 20.—[Near East Relief Letter.]—Herman Siepanian of Chicago, who arrived at Batoum a few days ago as a personal representative of 175 Chicago Armenians who hoped through him to trace their relatives in Armenia, reported to the American authorities here today that he had been robbed of $1,500, baggage and letters.

The stolen letters include all the addresses and lists of the Armenian families whom he came to seek.

Dr. R. T. Uhle of Kansas City, who is head of the Near East Relief here and the sole representative of American interests in the district, hired Siepanian, who is broke, as an interpreter. The robbery occurred in broad daylight in the train from Tiflis to Alexandropol. The robbers, under pretense of searching him for alleged contraband, emptied his pockets, and finally carried off his 485 pound trunk from the baggage car.

Siepanian's home in Chicago is at 1974 Cottage Grove avenue, Pullman. He has been employed in the Sherwin-Williams paint factory in Chicago for ten years. He financed his entire trip himself out of his own savings, and none of his 175 friends will lose a cent.

ENFORCER SAYS BOSS AND SELF ARE MARTYRS

The Rev. John Henry Williamson, who gets $10,000 a year from Mayor Thompson to spur up the elimination of crime from Chicago, told an audience at the Central Y. M. C. A. yesterday the following alarming state of facts:

"I was considered one of the most wide-awake ministers of the Methodist church. Wherever I went was marked by cleanups. Yet on undertaking my present position I find there are some things about the crime situation which even I must learn."

THE REV. J. H. WILLIAMSON.

After the Press.

After this admission had sunk into the minds of the listeners our $10,000 law enforcer advised all and sundry to shun the "pervert press." He urged that 80 per cent of everything read in the newspapers be discounted. "And if you want the truth," said the doctor, "pick out the papers which are criticizing the mayor and believe just the contrary to what they say."

"My curiosity aroused by the attacks which appeared in the press four or five years ago, I started going down to see the mayor personally to find out if he was the man they painted," said the enforcer. "I've never found a shadow of crookedness in him, and if anybody has any definite information against him, I wish they would give it to me, for I would most certainly use it against him."

The police of Chicago, he said, deserve great credit for making Chicago's crime record "the best of any large city in the United States—far better than New York's." The police are arresting more criminals than the courts can take care of, he said.

"There are more shyster lawyers in the courtrooms and corridors trying to defeat justice than there are good lawyers who want the law enforced," he asserted, "and as for professional bondsmen, you can't keep a big crook in jail in Chicago on account of their activities."

Mayor No Magician.

"The trouble with the crime situation here is that everybody is passing the buck. Some say the mayor could clean things up—as if he had a magic wand. Others put responsibility on the police, while others lay the blame at the door of the Bar association, the city council, the judiciary, and the church."

"Then the church tells me I ought to do it—that when I do it, it will indorse me. It would be funny if it weren't so sad."

"It belongs to every person in Chicago old enough to understand his civic duty to fight crime. We can get rid of crime only when good citizens are organized more strongly than criminals."

Urges Jury Service.

"The good people must serve on juries. If I had my own way with jurors I'd have two preachers on every future grand jury in Chicago. It would do the preachers good and would help conditions."

TWO BANDITS ROB WOMAN OF $7,000 JEWELS IN HOME

Two highwaymen forced a man to take them into his home so they could rob his wife of $7,000 worth of gems; several loop safe crackings were committed by a band of youthful tyros; detectives passing a crowd in an auto mobile saw a ring of pickpockets operating and arrested them—these were the outstanding features on yesterday's crime calendar.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Killacky, 4420 Grand boulevard, had been at the South Shore Country club until an early hour yesterday morning. Mr. Killacky is a live stock broker with offices in the Exchange building at the stock yards. His wife wore two valuable diamond rings and a lavalier on which hung a large diamond.

Sees Suspects Near Home.

As they drove up to their home they saw two men lurking nearby. Mr. Killacky feared they were holdups men and drove around the block hoping to evade them. When he reached his front door the second time the men were not in sight. He escorted Mrs. Killacky into their home and was returning to turn off the lights on his car when the men accosted him. They took a small sum from him and then forced him to take them into his home, where they quickly removed Mrs. Killacky's jewelry and fled.

Loop Safes Looted.

Safes of the Edwards Lighting Fixture company, 20 East Lake street; the Cobb, Whyte and Laemmer company, at 209 West Madison street; the D. Lelever and Son hat store, 6 South Clark street, were broken into some time during Saturday night. In all about $500 was obtained by the robbers. They used a hammer to knock out the combinations of small safes.

Lieut. William O'Connor and Sergt. Joseph McCarthy, William Lavelle, William Hanrahan and Richard Kelly were passing 111th street and Michigan boulevard—a crowded intersection leading to several cemeteries—when they saw Edward Creely, Thomas Moore, and Harry Miller, well known pickpockets, at work in the crowd. It was Hanrahan who spied them.

The detectives leaped from their machine and seized Creely and Moore. Miller ran down an alley, but stopped when O'Connor fired a shot at him.

SEMENOFF ASKS BORAH TO HEAR HIS SIDE OF CASE

New York, May 7.—Counsel for Gen. Gregorio Semenov, Cossack chieftain, today sent a letter to Senator Borah requesting him to arrange, as early as practicable, a meeting of the senate committee on education and labor so that the general could appear, with witnesses, and answer the various charges against him.

The letter, signed by Clark, Prentice & Foulstone, referred to the charges made to the committee last month that Gen. Semenov, in his military operations in Siberia in 1919 and 1920 was "nothing more than a brigand and a murderer and was personally responsible for the killing of two American soldiers."

It added that since Gen. Semenov had arrived in the United States "persons with political and private ends to serve, have through civil proceedings endeavored to injure and discredit the general and the cause he represented."

TWO GUILTY OF MURDER.

Bartlesville, Okla., May 7.—Floyd Bynum and John Galentine were convicted of murdering Felix Pugh, a 17 year old Ramona garage employee, by a jury in District court here tonight. A penalty of life imprisonment for both defendants was recommended by the jury.

Every child in America should eat Kellogg's whole-wheat Krumbles at least once daily. Krumbles put into the body ALL the vital elements subtracted from the daily foods we eat! # $55.00 Rangers FREE!

A Ranger "Motorbike" or "Superbe" for 25 six-month subscriptions to The Chicago Daily Tribune

LAST summer The Tribune gave away hundreds of Ranger Bicycles to Chicago boys and girls who secured Tribune subscriptions. This year it hopes to give away thousands of Rangers, because the terms are made easier.

This year only 6 months

Last year contestants were required to secure twelve months' subscriptions; this year each subscription need be for only six months. Last year thirty-five subscriptions were necessary to win a Ranger—this year only twenty-five.

Number of contestants limited

Last year books were given out to almost all who applied for them, with the result that there were an enormous number of workers in the field. This year the number of books issued for any one district will be limited, giving each contestant a better chance to win a Ranger.

Pay no money—Collect no money!

Contestants need not pay a cent nor collect a cent. The subscription price of The Daily Tribune is sixty-five cents per month, but this is collected by The Tribune's official carrier who delivers the paper. Contestants need only secure signature to subscription books—no money. Bicycles will be delivered as soon as the signatures have been verified.

Both boys and girls eligible!

If a boy or a man wins a Ranger it will be the "Motorbike" model. Girls and women will be presented with the "Ranger Superbe." Both have the same extra equipment: luggage carrier, bicycle stand, electric headlight, hand horn, tool kit, red velvet, non-skid tires. Every Ranger is guaranteed for five years and carries a six months' insurance policy for repair of accidental damages.

Subscription books can be secured only by calling at Room 502, Tribune Bldg., Madison and Dearborn Streets

Conditions of the Contest

SUBSCRIPTIONS must be secured for six months and turned in to The Tribune Office for verification between now and July 8, 1922.

Those from whom subscriptions may be taken are those residing within the limits of Chicago and suburbs, and who are not now receiving the daily Home edition of The Chicago Tribune in their homes.

Each winner will be presented with his or her bicycle immediately after verification of the 25 subscriptions.

Contestants are not limited as to age or sex. Men and women will have their choice of full sized bicycle for themselves or the boys' or girls' models.

Note that the terms of this offer are more liberal than those of the Ranger-Tribune contest which made so many boys and girls happy last year. The requirements then were 35 subscriptions for one year each instead of 25 for six months each.

APPLY to Room 502, Tribune Building, Madison and Dearborn, for subscription books and other particulars. The number of contestants in each district limited. Get subscription book at once!

OHIO NO CHAMP, BUT BIG FACTOR IN BIG TEN RACE

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

Despite defeat by Illinois, Northwestern and Purdue, Ohio State, which finished fourth in the final rating of western conference baseball teams last year, is in an excellent position to crash championship aspirations of some Big Ten teams.

The Buckeyes were defeated by Purdue Friday, 7 to 3, in a game which showed Ohio is a strong team, even the men get pulling together.

Absence of two regulars caused Coach St. John to rearrange his lineup. With John Frankenberg absent from second base, the infield did not work with the desired smoothness. The loss of Right Fielder Art Windett, who is leadoff man, weakened the hitting combination.

Poor Pegg Costly.

Poor throwing at critical times by Pitcher Cotter and First Baseman Lyden gave Purdue the openings, and Coach Lambert was quick to take advantage of the misplays. In the midst of confusion following poor pegg, Coach Lambert called the squeeze play into commission and it worked perfectly.

Although beaten by Illinois at Columbus, Ohio will go to Urbana on May 26 to give battle to last year's champion. With Michigan, Illinois and Wisconsin struggling for honors, and a remote chance that Purdue may get mixed up in the fight, Ohio will play an important part in determining the winner, providing the Buckeyes are successful against Illinois or Michigan. They do not meet Wisconsin.

L. W. St. John, director of athletics at Ohio State and coach of the team, has played professional baseball, and knows the fine points of the game. In the Purdue contest his players worked nicely on offense, but cracked a couple of times on defense.

No Base Stealing.

When Ohio players got on the path and were run behind there was no base stealing. The runners stayed close to the bags until they were advanced by clean hits.

Willard Cotter, who is captain and pitcher, allowed Purdue seven hits during the six innings he was on the slab. He started his own downfall in the third when he threw a ball wide of the plate and permitted two Purdue players to score. With this exception he pitched a steady game. He is the best man on the twirling staff.

Loren Shaw, center fielder, is as good as an outfielder as there is in the conference. He made two sparkling catches. He started a ninth inning rally with a double which was turned into a run.

Mart's a Heady Catcher.

Raymond Mart's is a nicely throwing catcher. He nailed three Purdue runners. He secured two hits and scored one run. Ray Fessler, the shortstop, is about the best player on the team. He accepted six chances without an error. He hits and runs bases well.

Earl ("Gus") Bauman, the left fielder, got one hit out of four trips to the plate and accepted one chance. Once he reached base on an error, but was nipped off the bag.

Third base is looked after by Larry Volk. In the eighth frame Volk handled Eversman's bouncer nicely and then threw wide to first. The Purdue outfielder stole second and scored on Strack's single. All this happened after two were out. Volk, however, is a peppery sort of player who is in the game all the time.

Lyden Good on First.

Joe Lyden had one bad error at first base. In the sixth inning Wagner reached base when Mart's made a poor throw of his hit along first base line. K. Fawcett singled and Wagner went to first, while Fawcett moved to second on the throw to catch Wagner. Eversman hit to Fessler, who threw him out at first, but Lyden threw poorly to the plate and Wagner scored. Otherwise the first sacker looked as good as most men playing the position on Big Ten teams.

Clarence Miller and Ted Slaman, who played right field, failed to deliver at bat and had little to do on the defense. Max Matusek, who played second base, did as well as Coach St. John expected. He accepted five chances, but did not hit. Louis Dudley, who succeeded Capt. Cotter on the mound, was nipped for two hits during as many innings as he pitched.

Noel Workman of football fame is substitute catcher, Tom Metzger outfield utility, and Lester Griffith a member of the pitching staff.

KAZOO NORMAL IS WINNER.

In the issue of the Tribune of May 3 it was reported that Kalamazoo college won a baseball game from De Paul. It should have been Western State Normal school of Kalamazoo.

WOODS AND WATERS

NEWS FROM THE BATTLEFRONT.

LAONA, Wis., May 6.—(Special to Woods and Waters.)—There are some fine lakes about Laona. On Monday, May 1, we paddled a canoe through Rat lake (one mile), Riley lake (one mile), and then up beautiful Indian creek (1½ miles). Indian creek flows through a wilderness of uncut timber, and the scenery is worth the trip. The brook trout that inhabit this creek, winter in Riley lake—also surrounded by virgin timber.

We found no trout up in the creek; it was a month too early. The winter up here has been long and cold, with some severe snow storms late in the spring. The big brook trout winter in Riley lake, and about June 1 they run up Indian creek and afford fine fly fishing until Sept. 1, when the spawning season begins. To show how big these brook trout grow in this water, last season two men fishing Riley lake in June, took sixteen brook trout that weighed fifty pounds.

The young men of Laona have organized a rod and gun club and have also just started a chapter of the Isak Walton league. This means much for Laona fishing.

OLYMPICS WIN PEEL CUP SOCCER GAME, 2-1

FALLS DEAD AT MATCH

GEORGE PRYOR, 1145 North Lawler avenue, a member of Ivy lodge, Sons of St. George, died suddenly just preceding the start of a soccer match between his lodge and the Mistletoe team, at Hirsch and Cleve avenues, yesterday morning. Mr. Pryor had been taking a few kicks at the ball, and it is supposed overtaxed his heart. The game was called off.

BY JOE DAVIS.

Semi-final competition in the annual competition for the Peel soccer trophy yesterday left the Olympia team as one contender in the final duel, in which they will meet either Pullman or the Rangers.

Olympia gained its place only after a thrilling game in which it defeated Thistles, 2 goals to 1, at 55th street and Wentworth avenue, while Pullman and Rangers staged a scoreless contest at Pullman, which was fought with equal skill and tenacity. The latter teams will replay at Pullman on Sunday.

The Olympia team, which already has clinched the championship in the Chicago league, met the Thistles, the fallenders, but the Peel cup match was a different proposition for the Scotchmen, and for the major part of the battle they gave the Olympians a little better than an even battle.

Patterson Scores for Thistles.

The sides went scoreless through a fast and well fought first period, in which Scotty Mair of the Thistles made a bad miss of a penalty kick.

During the interval the Kilty band of the British Legion of America played some stirring tunes on the pipes, and this sent the Scotchmen back into the fray keyed for action. Showing great dash, after fifteen minutes of play, Bob Patterson dashed by the Olympia defense and scored with a fast grounder.

As the game wore on, the Olympians' better condition showed, and in the last twenty minutes they made more frequent attacks.

Tallman and Bromley Tally.

A cross from Cardwell on the right enabled Hugh Tallman to head a goal and even the score. Three minutes later, from a well placed corner, Art Bromley headed the winning goal.

The Pullman-Rangers game was fast for the opening period, there being little to choose between the teams. Pullman had the better of the attack in the second half, but the Rangers' defense, handled the ball only twice. A lot of credit is due the Rangers' defense.

KEARNS SENDS HURRY CALL FOR CHAMPION

PARIS, May 7.—(By the Associated Press.)—Jack Dempsey will leave for England tomorrow in connection with an urgent telephone message from his manager, Jack Kearns. The world's boxing champion spent his last day in Paris at the Longchamps race-track.

Dempsey has not given up hope of fighting in Paris. He appears to be considering seriously the offer of 1400,000, 75 per cent to go to the winner and 25 per cent to the loser, made by Louis Verande for a return match with Georges Carpentier.

French sporting writers are skeptical, however, that the bout can be successfully staged here. They express the fear that it would be impossible to obtain receipts totalling 4,000,000 francs, especially in Pershing Stadium, which would mean that the price of seats would average around 100 francs.

Followers of Jack Dempsey will leave the giant Kearns would come to the front with a rival of the printing of THE TRIBUNE's lot for choice for the champion's opponent. Votes of the Willard jumped him into second place in race, supplanting Jack Johnson.

Friends of Harry Willard kept the colored fellow in the lead, nearly as many votes as were given for Willard. Backers of Harry kept him ahead of Tommy Groom, whose friends seem to have won to the fact that the St. Paul Post was in the running.

The influx of Willard votes was the quoting of one of his followers: "Jack Willard, for the reason he is the most logical, and entitled to a turn match. The most logical reason he was beaten in the first round was stuck to the third, though he was able to see or to hold up his knees. He trained (7 himself) and was confident. It is my opinion, with reach, awful punch, and strength, properly trained and coached by a crouching position, Jack is the bet at the present."

What do you think? Send in your vote!

KEARNS ANSWERS WILLARD

BY C. F. RUSSELL. (Chicago Tribune Service.) (Copyright 1922: By the Chicago Tribune.) LONDON, May 7.—Manager Kearns, in reference to a return match with Willard, today said that if Willard wants a match, he is entitled to it. Kearns will take up the matter on his return to the United States. At present he is engaged in arranging matches with Carpentier and Beckett, for which he has big offers from two promoters and a syndicate, which wishes to promote both matches. He expects to sign for both matches before sailing.

Jack will see the Carpentier-Lewis fight May 11, after which details of his bouts on this side will be announced.

WOMEN BOWLERS END BIG MEET AS CHICAGOANS LEAD

Toledo, O., May 7.—[Special.]—The fifth annual Women's National bowling tournament closed this afternoon with only one change in the minor events, Mrs. G. Buring and Mrs. C. Shinerman of Indianapolis taking fifth place in the doubles with 1035. Mrs. M. Fulton of Indianapolis, rolled high in the individuals today with 534.

The performances in the present tournament have been by far the best ever turned in by women. That all seven prizes in the all events will be awarded on scores topping the previous record, is a fair criterion of the bowling.

Birk Coles of Chicago will receive the high purse of $75 for carrying off first place in the team division.

JACKSON, 11; ROGERS PARK, 6.

Jackson, Mich., May 7.—The Jacksons opened their season here today with an 11 to 6 victory over the Rogers Park team of Chicago. Loose playing behind Stack, the Chicago pitcher, enabled the locals to pile on an eight run lead in the first innings. Score: Rogers Park.....000 000 303—810 3 Jacksons.....410 301 025—1114 6 Batteries—Stack and Sweeney; Collamore and Brangan.

GRAYS, 13; MAGNETS, 4.

Michigan City, Ind., May 7.—[Special.]—Michigan City Grays defeated the Grays of Chicago, 13 to 4, here today. Pitchers Bill Collins and Rockford Three Eyes league club divided time on mound for Grays.

CHICAGO MARKET HIGHEST; WHEAT IS RUSHED HERE

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Chicago is the target for all the surplus wheat in the western markets, the prices here being relatively the highest. Every effort is being strained to get wheat to Chicago for May delivery. Cash interests are buying the wheat and selling the May and scattered longs are selling out, while a few of the most aggressive local traders are trading in and out on the May, having sufficient prestige to create the impression that they are working for the leading short interest.

Every few days there is a rumor around that the so-called May deal is over. It was circulated Saturday afternoon. The leading holder of May wheat said he did not know that there was a deal on.

May Deliveries Large.
Deliveries of cash wheat on May sales so far this month aggregate 2,331,000 bu., of which one interest is said to have paid for the greater part. Expectations are that around 6,000,000 bu., and possibly more, may be brought into Chicago this month, which will give the market a good stock, and at the expense of all other markets.

For the present the general trade has become somewhat discouraged on the long side over the slow disappearance of wheat and the limited export and milling demand. Apparently foreigners have bought enough wheat to relieve their immediate wants and are going slower in buying both old and new crops, purchases of the latter being reported of smaller volume last week than for several weeks past, although the aggregate was good for this season.

Crop prospects have improved, and with other conditions surrounding the wheat trade, have lessened the confidence among scattered holders as regards a big advance at once. It is possible, however, that the trade may be a little too bullish and have too large a line of shorts out for their best interest, and should anything happen to start a general buying movement, prices might advance sharply.

B. A. Eckhart Favors Good Prices.
B. A. Eckhart, the Chicago miller, who is a close student of political, economic, and trade conditions, is friendly to the maintenance of a good level for grain prices. He believes that the political situation is working in favor of the farmers.

With the growth of the cooperative movement and the help that farmers are likely to get from a more elastic policy on the part of the federal reserve governors as regards farm loans, together with favorable legislative enactment, he thinks the farmers will be able to distribute the marketing of their crop over a longer period and that this will work toward a better stability in prices around a profitable level. This also should help the railroads by preventing congestion, thus benefiting all business interests.

Manitoba wheats are selling at less than American, and have taken a great deal of business away from the United States.

May wheat closed Saturday at nearly the lowest of the week—$1.30 1/2 @ 1.35, off 1/4; July, $1.24 1/2 @ 1.24, off 1/4; September, $1.17 1/2 @ 1.17, off 1/4. The latter is selling above the pre-war levels for this season. Prices for the week follow:

May. July. September.
Mon. 1.30 1/2 @ 1.35 1/2 1.17 1/2 @ 1.17
Tue. 1.30 1/2 @ 1.35 1/2 1.17 1/2 @ 1.17

Sun. 1.30 1/2 @ 1.35 1/2 1.17 1/2 @ 1.17

Corn is passing into good hands, although a number of large local traders who were friendly to the buying side and loaded up early in the week sold out in the last two days, owing to the break in wheat. In all, prices held well considering the break of 1/4 in May wheat and 1/4 in July, as the drop from the extreme high point in corn was only 1/4 @ 1/2.

Holders of cash corn in the northwest are selling their stocks as fast as possible and are filling up the seaboard demand, their prices being lower than those of Chicago holders, and at the rate they have been moving their stocks they will soon be out of supplies.

May corn closed Saturday at 60 1/2 @ 61, July, 64 1/2 @ 64 1/2; September, 66 1/2 @ 66 1/2. Prices for the week follow:

Exporters After Oats.
Exporters are taking oats more freely, having bought more than 1,000,000 bu. by heavy weights in the northwest last week and are after lighter weights to make 2 1/2 to 3 million clips. Chicago has very few heavy weight oats.

Deliveries on May contract for the week were 4,860,000 bu., mostly No. 3 whites. Seedling operations are about completed and the acreage is around 10 per cent short.

May closed Saturday at 37 1/2 @ 37 1/2, gaining 1/4 for the week. July, 39 1/2 @ 39 1/2; September, 40 1/2 @ 40 1/2, off 1/4. The week's prices follow:

Provision Prices Better.
Provision prices have worked better, with a reduction in the relative difference between hogs and product in favor of the packer.

A little hedging pressure was met by a liberal absorption of the offerings by shorts and, with a better southern trade and a fairly steady hog market, values worked higher and closed with gains of 1/4 @ 1/2 on lard, 1/4 @ 1/2 on short ribs, with May leading, and 2 1/2 on pork.

BUSINESS NEWS IN BRIEF

NEW YORK.—Probably the largest cancellation of orders for cotton goods on record was announced Saturday by the Amoskeag Manufacturing company of Manchester, N. H., for which the New York firm acts as selling agent. It was a cancellation of all gingham under order for fall delivery. In addition, it had canceled all orders for sport gingham as yet undelivered. These undelivered orders are believed to represent considerable yardage in themselves, as the company has been consistently behind on its deliveries for spring. The strike at the Amoskeag company has continued for such a long time, it was explained, that the company had no alternative.

NEW YORK.—Large woolen and worsted goods manufacturer withdraws orders from the market in order to complete a reprice of the line at higher levels.

LAWRENCE, Mass.—Striking employees of the Plymouth mill refused a compromise offer of 1/4 cent wage cut.

NEW YORK.—American buyers arriving from Europe report Belfast makers of linen are trying hard to reduce prices, which are still too high for America.

BERLIN.—American buyers find German merchandise generally unobtainable, or else at prohibitive prices. High labor costs, tax problems, reparation demands.

The balance sheet as of Dec. 31, 1921, giving effect to this financing and the sale of $1,000,000 of capital stock, shows current assets of $14,457,774, or over 4 1/2 times current liabilities of $3,170,782. Net earnings before taxes, available for interest, for the last six years have averaged over 1.9. This includes the year 1921, in which a loss of $1,707,788 was incurred. ## Your Neighbor's Son

The boy had his father's looks and name. The father made him his trustee. But the son had not the other's genius. He was inexperienced, ambitious; he wrecked the great estate!

Years after, other children asked the court to appoint a trust company to save the shattered inheritance.

The father's wise course would have been to select a trust company to manage the estate for the benefit of all the children.

Coupon and registered bonds (interchangeable) in denominations of $10,000, $5,000, $1,000, $500, $100 and $40. Redeemable at par and interest at any time after ten years from date of issue.

The Supreme Court of the United States has held, (a) that these Bonds were legally created as part of the banking system of the United States, and (b) that the Bonds issued by the Banks are instrumentalities of the United States Government and are exempt from Federal, State, municipal and local taxation.

Issues of outstanding bonds dated prior to May, 1921 are redeemable five years from the date of issue. In order to meet the demand for longer term securities, Congress enacted a statute authorizing the redemption period on new issues to begin in the eleventh year from date of issue instead of in the sixth as heretofore. The Bonds now offered are issued under this authority.

Special attention is directed to the following statement of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon:

"In view of the very satisfactory financial condition of the Banks themselves, of the exemption of the bonds issued by these Banks from Federal, State, municipal and local taxation everywhere in the United States, and of the very adequate security back of these bonds, they should prove an attractive security to investors large and small throughout the country."

STOCK MARKET TRUE TO FORM IN HALT OF ADVANCE

The New York Times.

New York, May 7.—[Special].—That the stock market and the bond market would have halted in their rise last week at the very time when mercantile agencies were reporting the first signs of evidence of general trade revival was quite in accord with financial precedent. Financial markets which forebode a changed industrial situation are apt to reach their own immediate culminating point before the change is clearly visible.

That was what happened with the great break on the stock exchange in the late autumn of 1919. The decline in stocks which foreshadowed the trade reaction came temporarily in December; yet the beginning of trade reaction and the downward turn of commodity prices did not come until two or three months later, when such a movement in the stock market is to be resumed or not, will usually depend on the indications as to whether the change in business conditions for better or worse will or will not be carried further than was at first expected.

Cites Change in 1920.
The change for the worse in 1920 turned out, later in that year, to be continuous; financial markets after their brief recovery from the first anticipatory decline, broke again with great violence. The present markets are apparently not yet able to see beyond the spring trade revival which they have already discounted by rising prices. If they are to advance again, it would be in response to evidence of larger trade recovery. In view of the most striking incident of last week's market was the rise of sterling to $4.44, the highest since the great fall of exchange in 1918. This occurrence was not the least important because it obviously happened without regard to events at Genoa. Merchandise trade alone does not explain the rise, for although in the three first months of 1920 our surplus of exports to Britain over our imports from that country was less than half what it was in the same months of 1921, nevertheless it was greater by 40 per cent than in the years before the war. Furthermore, although England had sent some $200,000,000 Transvaal gold to New York during 1921, we have received no gold at all from her since February.

Two Explanations Offered.
There are two explanations for the seeming anomaly. Before the war, when international finance was discussed as used to hear much of what was called the "invisible trade balance." The United States, the debtor country of those years, also, on occasion, to enjoy its "invisible balance," which would bring exchange rates strongly in New York's favor.

It consisted (notably in such years as 1897, 1898, and 1899), of large remittances of gold from the United States to Europe for investment in American securities. Since those days the wheel has come full turn. What has been happened in this season is remittance of American gold to Europe for investment in American securities. Those securities were sometimes bought in the form of new "dollar loans," floated by bankers in New York, sometimes purchased on the London stock exchange. There is little doubt that the surplus of the visible and invisible balance during the last four months has been against the United States and in England's favor.

Reason for Change.
This is the first explanation. It can be wholly superseded another which is based not on tangible operations of the market, but on changing financial sentiment. It has all along been admitted that the depreciation of European exchange (including sterling) since the war began, was caused not alone by the mounting balance of trade against the European belligerents, but by suspension of gold payments on their currency. As the true exchange rate thereby became a matter of conjecture, governments simply by export or import surpluses but by the probability of return to gold redemption, sterling exchange was bound to be affected strongly by the official declaration of the British financial ministry, that notwithstanding the stupendous war indebtedness which it proposed to pay, the government's purpose was to restore gold redemption at the earliest practicable moment. This statement has been made to parliament twice during the last two months.

Explains the Sterling's Rise.
Considered in this light, the rapid recovery of sterling is no more a mystery than the movement of foreign exchange in favor of New York in the autumn of 1919. At that time the United States was still enormously in Europe's debt. We had not yet begun our export of war materials. Our stock exchange was depressed because they did not dare face the chance of forced sale of $2,000,000,000 to $2,000,000,000 worth of American securities held by Europe.

When the question of a moratorium on maturing foreign indebtedness came up sharply for decision in the autumn of 1919 American bankers took the stand that they would pay off immediate debts by shipping gold, even if their payment exhausted our reserves. The result, even in that period of acute financial uncertainty, was the sweeping fall of the New York sterling rate from $7 a pound in August, which was 40 per cent against the country, to $4.85 at the end of 1919, or less than parity.

Precisely as our attitude on that occasion was accepted by the world as meaning maintenance of gold payments, so the British government's present attitude is accepted as meaning eventual redemption of gold payments.

MARCH A GOOD MONTH FOR U.S. ROADS, REPORT
Washington, D. C., May 7.—American railroad had one of the best months' earnings experienced in recent years during March, according to compilations by the Association of Railway Executives, and obtained operating income of $13,510,000. This was the composite return of the 21 "class one" roads which operate 235,000 miles of main line track out of approximately 300,000 in the entire country, and represented earnings at the annual rate of 1.33 per cent on the tentative valuation of $10,150,000,000. The Interstate Commerce commission has based upon the transportation system.
